$100,000 DAMAGE TO LETTUCE CROP BY PLANT VIRUS

More than $100,000 worth of lettuce has been plowed under and potential tomato crops in Alameda County are seriously threatened by a scourge of spotted wilt, according to Fred Duffie, county agricultural inspector.

Spray and dust applications are useless against the disease, Duffie states. It is being spread by thrips, small sucking insects which carry the virus from plant to plant. Two hundred acres of lettuce have been discarded under in this area in an attempt to curb spread of spotted wilt. An average yield per acre is 500 crates, with the market at $1 to $1.50 per crate.

FLOWERS SUSCEPTIBLE

The State Department of Agriculture has advised that many garden flowers, especially calla lily, malva, and petunias, are most susceptible to spotted wilt.

From these plants the disease is carried by thrips to farm crops. The fast multiplication rate of the thrips further hastens spread of the disease to surrounding areas.

In a letter received from State Plant Pathologist Dr. D. G. Milbrath, no encouragement to Alameda farmers was seen. Dr. Milbrath stated that elimination of thrips in the area is no solution, as the insects have from 10 to 15 broods per year and will soon reappear.

Thrips carry the virus over an approximate distance of 20 miles, and so infect an area of 20 square miles surrounding one infected plant. Dr. Milbrath said further that in districts where garden flowers are abundant the sources of the virus are equally abundant.

HARD TO FIGHT

Futility of combatting spotted wilt is illustrated in the experience of Frank Cardoza, Centerville. He seeded tomatoes directly in the field, leaving considerable space between each tomato plant and touching no plant with his hands. While he succeeded in protecting the plants from tobacco mosaic, contracted from tobacco stains on the hands, about 80 per cent of the seedlings were destroyed by spotted wilt.

The present epidemic is the first reported outbreak in Washington Township, though Salinas Valley lettuce crops have undergone serious damage in past years from spotted wilt. The plant disease was originally known as San Pablo disease, being first discovered in the San Pablo region.

IRVINGTON SHOP HIT BY FALLEN TREE

Apparently hit by a large truck or trailer early Wednesday morning, a tree on the Irvington-Centerville highway was split in two and fell onto the sidewalk, breaking two windows and slightly damaging the front of Adeline's Beauty Shop in Irvington.

Adeline Harvey, proprietor of the shop, had just returned from a vacation, according to O. N. Hirsch, owner of the damaged building.

ABANDON CHEST, SAYS IRVINGTON

The Irvington Chamber of Commerce this week expressed itself in disfavor of continuing the Washington Township Community Chest. Last week the Centerville and Niles Chambers voted in favor of the Chest's continuance.

Five delegates from the Irvington Chamber will attend ceremonies at the opening of the first section of the Eastshore Freeway in Oakland today. Tom Sinclair's 1922 automobile will be entered in the parade.

IRVINGTON BANKER ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christensen of Irvington have been vacationing this week at Cisco Grove, near Truckee. In Mr. Christensen's absence, his duties at the Central Bank are being handled by Jack Parry, assistant manager of the Niles branch.

REBER DIRECTORS CONSIDER PROGRESS TOWARD STUDY

At a recent meeting in San Francisco, the directors of the Reber Plan disclosed several encouraging facts on the progress of the organization.

All resolutions and bills before congress in Washington and the assembly in Sacramento were receiving favorable attention. These are: House Resolution 154, submitted by Representative Jack Z. Anderson of Santa Clara County; Senate Resolution 119, submitted by Senator Sheridan Downey; and Assembly Bill 1838, introduced by Assembymen Thompson, Lindsay, Weber, and Kirkwood.

Committees set up under these resolutions were authorized to investigate fresh water lakes, causeways, and other features included in the Reber Plan.

Additional support has recently come from the supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco in their endorsement of State Assembly Bill 1838, "Creating a San Francisco Bay Causeway and Fresh Water Lake Authority."

The directors agreed that the Reber Plan educational policy had been very effective in creating widespread interest in the plan, and that this now would be supplemented with a state-wide campaign to raise funds. These funds would be used for additional publicity and to prepare complete presentations for the various legislative committees which will investigate the plan.

Washington Township Reber Plan committee members will soon be soliciting contributions for this fund.

TO OPEN BIDS FOR ROAD RESURFACING

Bids for resurfacing of Thornton Avenue-Dumbarton Road between Centerville and Newark will be opened by the Board of Supervisors August 2, it was revealed by County Surveyor Wallace B. Boggs.

The work will cost approximately $160,000, and calls for a three-inch asphalt surface over the present pavement and widening of the roadway from 18 to 22 feet.

Y.M.I. AND Y.L.I. TO ENTER FLOAT

A sixteen foot replica of the original Mission San Jose will be on the float representing the Washington Township Chapter of Y.M.I. and Y.L.I. in the State Y.M.I. convention parade in San Jose Sunday, according to Cliff Rogers of Irvington, float committee chairman.

The mission is constructed on a trailer and is eight feet high, ten feet wide, and includes the old mission living quarters measuring five feet by four feet. The float will contain the original mission bell, said Rogers.

Irvington residents included on the float committee are: R. Henry J. Furtado, M. Guardanapo, L. Telles and G. Enos.

The State Y.M.I. convention is being held July 16, 17, 18 and 19, in San Jose, and the parade will take place Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m.

190,000 ATTEND BIGGEST ALAMEDA COUNTY FAIR

The curtain has run down for the seventh annual Alameda County Fair. But not before its 11-day run had broken all attendance records and proved that residents of this county are solidly in back of this "bigger and better" fair.

Attendance at the 1949 operation ran close to double that recorded the previous year, with almost 190,000 visitors coming, staying, and then coming again to enjoy the many-faceted activities of the fair.

10 YEARS OLD

Members of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, who initiated the first fair in 1939, and have worked to make it grow to its present status, were jubilant over the reception given the 1949 edition by their constituents.

Board Chairman Harry Bartell addressed the throngs gathered Saturday for the fair's closing to thank them all for their whole-hearted turn-out, and to call for "constructive criticism" that would enable the board and the fair directors to continue to better the event.

He joined with Supervisor Chester E. Stanley, chairman of the supervisory Fair Committee, in stressing that while Alameda County ranked only second in size in California counties, the local fair was "definitely aimed at ranking second to none."

BETTER PARKING

Dr. Paul E. Dolan, Fair Association president, has announced plans of the directorate for purchase of 55 acres of land adjoining the present fair site, which will be used for auto parking, while the present parking area is scheduled to be used for further construction of exhibit buildings and barns.

This move will allay "shut-outs" such as occurred Fourth of July when crowds reached the point where gates had to be closed because there was no parking space. Although a near-by grain field was procured by Wray L. Bergstrom, secretary-manager, for emergency parking purposes, it soon was filled, and traffic was again tied in knots.

Extensive building and improvement plans for the 1950 Alameda County Fair are under way by the board and fair directors and will be announced in the near future.

But the board, directorate and manager are all agreed on one thing, a reiteration of the statement, "The Alameda County Fair is going to rank second to none!"

LOCAL PEOPLE WIN AWARDS AT FAIR

Donald E. Spetti of Niles garnered seven first places, one second, and a third prize for his entries in the Amateur Floriculture division at the Alameda County Fair in Pleasanton recently.

Spetti took blue ribbons for his pelargonium, pelargonium (Lady Washington variety), and canna; first and second places with daisies; first place for gerbera, first and third place awards for his fuchsia, and first prize for depethium.

Ethel Grau, also of Niles, was awarded first place for red hot poker in the amateur division, and Fritz Waltenberger of Centerville won the blue ribbon for his begonia entries.

Adeline R. Santos, also of Centerville, took first place in foliage plants, and the Washington Township Country Club placed third in old fashioned gardens. The Niles Congregational Ladies Guild was third place winner for rock gardens.

AWARDS MADE TO NILES GIRL AT COUNTY FAIR

Mary Lynn Lamoreux of Niles won second prize for her entry, Highland Treasure, in the yearling division of American Saddlebred mares, and took third place honors with Highland Laughter, her three-year-old mare, at the Alameda County Fair recently held in Pleasanton.

Prizes totaling $680 were awarded in the light horse division of the county fair's livestock department.

IRVINGTON SEWER PLANT IN USE

The Irvington Sanitary District's new $71,000 sewage disposal plant went into operation Tuesday, according to Secretary R. J. Wright of the district's board of directors.

This is the first sewage plant in this area to be completed, following adoption of a state law prohibiting the dumping of raw sewage into San Francisco Bay.

$2,000,000 PLANT BEING CONSTRUCTED FOR NEW INDUSTRY

Construction of a $2,000,000 plant for the manufacture of phosphates was started last week by the Westvaco Chemical Division of the Food Machinery & Chemical Corp. of Newark. Work is expected to be finished in approximately nine months.

The government plant was purchased by Westvaco in April. Construction is being done by the United Engineers & Constructors of Philadelphia.

The plant will employ about 40 persons. It will refine ores from mines operated by the Food Machinery Corp. at Pocatello, Idaho.

Officials of the company state that the operation at Newark is being located here because the plant purchased from the government serves as a good nucleus for the new industry.

Products of the phosphate plant have extensive use, with principal markets being for fertilizer and for manufacture of soap products.

DECOTO LAD IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Miss Cecelia Enos, Niles school teacher, was not cited in a traffic accident last Friday on the Niles-Hayward Highway that caused serious head injuries to a ten-year-old Decoto boy, Joseph Martin, of 1415 H Street.

The child, with a companion, Charles Myer, was playing on the highway and suddenly darted into the path of the oncoming car, driven by Miss Enos. She was unable to avoid striking him.

He was taken to the Fairmont Hospital and later transferred to the San Jose Hospital where he is said to be improving. He suffered a fractured skull.

ATTEND Y.L.I.-Y.M.I. CONVENTION IN SAN JOSE

Joseph Perry and Edw. L. Rose of Irvington will be delegates to the Lady of Fatima Council, Y.M.I., at the state convention of Y.M.I. and Y.L.I. in San Jose July 16-19.

Brand name of the company's pickles is "Selected Stock." Cauliflower and peppers are produced for the trade. This year's pack, the owners state, will approximate 500 tons of pickled cucumbers and 2,000 barrels of peppers. This represents the harvest of about 125 acres. The company has been operating at Irvington for four years.

The new buildings are being constructed by R. A. Griffin.

OLIVER SWITCH TAKES A HOLIDAY; LEAVES TOWNSHIP 'POWERLESS'

Oliver Switch controls 220,000 volts at the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Newark substation, so he thought he was a rather important fellow.

Yet, nobody appreciated him. Year after year he sat there and took care of all that energy, and, by gum, he got fed up!

Last Sunday it seems as though Ollie looked around, saw the people lying around in the sun and cruising through the country, heard them relaxing with their favorite Sunday afternoon radio shows, and so he decided to take a day off, too.

Ollie looked at the clock on the substation wall: 4:36—a gentlemanly hour. So without so much as a "by your voltmeter" he packed his watts and headed for the country.

Oliver had hardly reached the substation door, however, when frantic repair men gave chase. Well, they found Ollie right away, but what a time they had talking him into going back to work!

They played on his sympathy. They told him of hundreds of frustrated motorists caught in traffic jams when the traffic lights went out. He was unmoved.

They told him of babies missing their 5 o'clock bottle when electric clocks stopped.

"Bosh!" said he. They told him of criminals escaping if police communications are cut off.

Oliver didn't give a fig.

Now, just at this time, one of

STANLEY FAVORS EXTENSION OF STEVENS STREET

Supervisor Chester E. Stanley told the Centerville Chamber of Commerce at this week's luncheon meeting that in a joint meeting Tuesday of the County Board of Supervisors and Planning Commission he had strongly recommended the extension of Stevens Street to Central Avenue.

The consideration of safety, Stanley said, is the main factor upon which he bases his recommendation.

He explained to the Chamber that building of a new street is contrary to precedent in this county, but exceptional circumstances in the case of Stevens Street warrant a departure from policy.

The proposed street would be of 50-foot right-of-way, with 20 feet of width paved.

Following the joint meeting, the Planning Commission reached no decision on the matter, which will come up for consideration at subsequent meetings.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR PACKING COMPANY

Two new buildings are being constructed on Durham Road in Irvington for the Irvington Packing Co., which will move from present quarters in the old Western Pacific depot by August 1.

The packing company, owned by Ralph Baxter and J. H. Campbell, produces pickled cucumbers, cauliflower and peppers. While presently the operation employs only seven persons, in the new quarters employment will be increased to 10 or 12.

Brand name of the company's pickles is "Selected Stock." Cauliflower and peppers are produced for the trade. This year's pack, the owners state, will approximate 500 tons of pickled cucumbers and 2,000 barrels of peppers. This represents the harvest of about 125 acres. The company has been operating at Irvington for four years.

The new buildings are being constructed by R. A. Griffin.

The front page news in The Register 20 years ago this week was a story telling about the encampment of 700 people from all parts of the state on the old grammar school grounds in Irvington, for the annual reunion of the Northern California District of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. One hundred tents were staked out. The reunion lasted for 10 days.

Editor Parks brightened up the editorial section of the paper with a tirade against women who smoked.

"The weed contains nicotine," he wrote, "that very soon spoils the beauty of the feminine addict. It coarsens her. It gives her a hard look, a defiant air—yes, to be very frank, much like that which marked the woman of the underworld that the past generation of men knew so well. He eats well, sleeps well, and is well. What more could one ask of a baby?

His favorite toy is a jack-in-the-box whose audacious manner never fails to intrigue him. His other favorite "toys" are—you guessed it!—his mother's pots and pans!

Gary has been walking since the age of ten months, and his vocabulary is becoming larger day by day.

Proud grandparents of young Gary are Mr. and Mrs. Tony Silva of Second Street, Niles, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin of Whipple Road, Alvarado.

SYMBOL of SERVICE  MARK of QUALITY

By ELAINE HOWE

There is so much to see right here in California that I think you could spend several years of vacations sightseeing, and never cross the state line. I never tire of singing the praises of the American Guide Series to each of the states. Compiled by the Federal Works Project of the WPA, the California volume, "California, Guide to the Golden State," like all forty-seven others, is invaluable.

There are chapters on California history, industries, education, arts, the movies, etc. Fourteen of the large cities are described in detail. Ranging up and down the state, there are explicit directions for getting to famous places with minute detail as to what to see enroute. The detail is accurate and dependable, which makes it a great help to the sightseers. There are also excellent photographs of every part of the state.

Yosemite is a favorite vacation spot both summer and winter for Californians. "One Hundred Years in Yosemite" by Carl Russell is not a guide book, but is a story of the struggles of the men who brought forth this great national park from a trackless wilderness. The court battles and brushes with the Yosemite Indians make this an exciting adventure yarn as well as true history. It's a story which can greatly increase the visitor's enjoyment of his trip to Yosemite.

To practically every beholder, San Francisco has a charm which has nothing to do with whether you were born in California or Kalamazoo. Robert O'Brien has added to the tremendous library of tributes to the city by the handcraft done by the students during the class session. An average of 69 students per day attended the school this summer.

main avenues, and really catches the distinctive atmosphere of the city. There are glimpses of historic events, and high as well as low social life. The book makes pleasant reading, and shows yet another side of this city that is full of interesting people and places.

Bill Heim, genial manager of the Niles Theater, this week announced that starting next Wednesday, lady patrons of the theater will be given glass dishware with each admission.

BIBLE SCHOOL ENDS

The nine-day Vacation Bible School at the Church of the Nazarene in Niles, will close tonight with a program at 7:30.

The public is invited to the program and to view the displays of handcraft done by the students during the class session. An average of 69 students per day attended the school this summer.

A SLIGHT DELAY

Fourth of July guests of the "Dutch" Caziers ran into a spot of trouble after they left here on their return trip to their home in Utah, but "It's an ill wind, etc."

The boys, Donald Erdman and Jordy Adamson had reached Livermore when they became involved in an accident that damaged their car considerably although they escaped without injury. So, back to Niles where the car is being repaired. This will give Mrs. Cazier and daughter, Linda Lou, time to prepare to accompany the boys when they go to Utah. While there Mrs. Cazier will visit her parents, the W. J. Hallidays, and Mr. Cazier's relatives, the Joseph Caziers.

HOUSE GUESTS

The Nelson family of Deer Road have welcomed into their home Mr. Nelson's mother, Mrs. Olive Edwardson and her uncle, Mr. Nels Solberg who, until recently, lived in Newark.

LUNCHEON GUESTS

Mrs. Paul Harter entertained at luncheon on Monday, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Kelly of San Diego, and localite, Mrs. Louise Fitzhugh. The Kellys were on their way to Roy, Washington.

AWARDS PRESENTED TO FAIR WINNERS TONIGHT

Awards will be given tonight to members of the Southern Alameda County Japanese-American Citizens League who won prizes at the Alameda County Fair.

FUTURE FARMERS IN GOOD SHOWING AT COUNTY FAIR

By ROBERT LOFTON
F.F.A. Reporter

The Future Farmers of Washington Union High School, Chapter 113, came home from the Alameda County Fair with smiles on their faces. The smiles was their way of showing their victory in winning many blue and red ribbons on their stock entries.

The beef division found the following boys coming out with blue and red ribbons: Marcus Galvan, blue; Ernest Kinslie, red; and Billy Rose, blue. All these awards were on beef heifers. For showmanship the chapter took second, seventh and eighth places.

In the dairy division the chapter took the first four places in their showmanship. This was made possible by the following boys and their entries: Arnold Silva of Niles, blue; on Holstein heifer and blue on bull; Vernon Devalle, blue on heifer; Al Fries of Newark, blue on heifer, and John Coelho of Niles, blue on Hostein heifer.

Two entries were made by this chapter in the swine division with Bill Dobyns of Irvington taking a third place ribbon and Joe Perry a red. No showmanship award was taken.

Ten sheep made up the entries from our chapter with the awards coming out as one red and nine blues. Showmanship awards were second, fifth, sixth and seventh. The entries were made up by Vincent Wallace, Marcus Galvan, John Coelho, Tommy Gaulco, Sam Carrillo and Ernest Kinslie.

In the vegetable and fruit entries, Joe Perry, Robert Lofton and Vincent Wallace all took red ribbons.

Vince Wallace came out very good in the poultry entries. He took a red, two blue and third place ribbons.

The only discouragement to the local chapter was the fact that their boath entry took fourth place. But this will be overcome next year when the chapter will put up a much better boath.

It can be well noted that the Centerville chapter is becoming better and better each year as the many awards which the fellows receive have increased tremendously. This we credit to the good training of our advisor and teacher, Mr. Jed Oxborrow, not to overlook the hard work which the boys have put into their projects.

Although it seems only yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. A. Ferrante of Niles, the picture they came across the other day happened on February 27, 1936. The picture also included George Bonde.

The ceremony took place at a meeting sponsored by the Junior Chambers of Commerce of the two communities. Three cheers for the Decoto Traffic Patrol, which has done such a good job since 1936. Keep it up, fellows.

IRVINGTON LOSES TO PITTSBURG, 9-6, IN FINAL FRAMES

Irvington dropped a hard-fought ball game to Pittsburg V.F.W., 6-9, last Sunday afternoon, after leading until the eighth inning.

The Irvingtonians put across one run in the first frame and went into the second inning with a 1-1 tie with the north bay team. After a scoreless second stanza, the Washington Township mites had their big inning in the third, making every hit count and bringing in four runners to make the score 5-1 in favor of Irvington.

During the next four innings the Pitts held Irvington to no hits nor runs, while themselves scoring twice in the fifth and once in the seventh to make the score 5-4 going into the eighth.

It was Pittsburg's turn in the eighth, and they made three runs off of three hits. Irvington had one run from two hits in that frame, and found themselves on the bad end of a 7-6 count.

The clincher came in the top of the ninth, when Pitt brought in two more. The local club failed to score on their one hit in that inning and Pitt took home the bacon.

Irvington, however, came out better on the percentage side by bringing in six runners on eight hits, while Pittsburg, with 15 hits, brought nine men across the plate.

For the locals, Marshall and H. Faria were credited with base hits, and two home runs were chalked up for the Pitts.

WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

If a newspaper can presume to speak for a community, on behalf of Washington Township we would like to thank the county Board of Supervisors and the Fair Association for the 1949 Alameda County Fair.

Ten years old this year, the Fair has grown into an exposition which is a source of pride and real benefit to rural Alameda County. Witness the large number of prizes in all departments which were won by Washington Township people. And from the standpoint of being a show, 190,000 people came to the Fair, which indicates the extent of public interest. Then, too, Washington Township provided the queen for the Cavalcade.

Three years ago, when the Fair was resumed after the war, there was considerable criticism—a good part of it coming from this area and from this newspaper—regarding organizational set-up on the Fair management.

Wisely, the Board of Supervisors gave ear to the critics. It made changes it considered advisable. Last year's Fair was an improvement, and this year's Fair was excellent.

Everyone who had a part in the 1949 Alameda County Fair deserves the public's thanks.

THINKING OF YOU

Which makes better sense: to move the mountain to Mahomet, or for Mahomet to move to the mountain?

The Department of Motor Vehicles reasons it out the hard way. The Department has been asked repeatedly in the last few years to send a licensing officer to Washington Township for a day or two a week to issue and renew drivers' licenses. That would seem advisable.

But instead, the Department insists that all the drivers of Washington Township—a community of 20,000 persons—go to Hayward and wait interminably in line to renew their licenses.

The Centerville Chamber of Commerce, most recent organization to seek sensible convenience for the township by having a license bureau set up here, was advised last month that its wishes are being denied.

We feel sure that the Department has not heard the last on this score.

TAKE A CHANCE

The Editor, Sir:

Would you be willing to spend a dollar to make ten? That's what the Reber Committee members are going to ask you, the people in Washington Township, to do. Everybody knows the water situation is serious and if it gets worse what will all this wonderful acreage be worth? If you can't irrigate your crops, what will happen to the value of your land?

Will new industries settle in southern Alameda County if there is no adequate cheap water? What

ARE WE RUNNING OUT OF WATER?
AND---WHAT CAN WE DO ABOUT IT?

Mr. Elwood Johnson of the Arthur C. Day Implement Company this week called to our attention an article entitled "Are We Running Out of Water?" which was published in the July issue of "Changing Times" magazine.

The article gives an excellent summary of remedies for water depletion, which we quote:

"Water should not be regarded as an exhaustible resource, in the sense that oil and coal are, because nature replenishes water resources through rainfall. But available supplies must be properly managed in each area.

"Efficient handling sometimes allows water to be used for multiple purposes. The water that turns the turbines of a hydroelectric plant is not impaired by that use and should not thereafter be wasted. Water used for cooling purposes may be used again for irrigation.

"New York City last year used more than one billion gallons of water daily, of which an estimated 200 million gallons were wasted. This enormous waste can be cut.

"Proposed other remedies are:

"Better spacing of wells pumping from the same underground source.

"Careful surveys by competent engineers to determine the rate at which nature recharges underground reservoirs and, therefore, how much water may be safely withdrawn from these deposits.

"Artificial recharging of reservoirs. If this is done adequately, the source often may be used indefinitely.

"Abatement of pollution. Much underground water is made unfit for use by neglect.

"Control of silt and sedimentation. Even a small amount of silt may quickly plug up a recharging well.

EXAMPLES OF ACTION

"The Roswell artesian basin in New Mexico is an outstanding example of what scientific control of water supplies can achieve. This area, heavily dependent upon artificial irrigation, faced economic disaster when the artesian-well pressure was lowered in the upper part of the basin.

"The Federal Land Bank quit lending money on farms in this area, except on a dry-farm basis—farms where rainfall is the only source of water—and farmers had to pay high interest charges on commercial bank loans.

"The U. S. Geological Survey finally was called in and its engineers ascertained the amount of artesian-well water available each year. Then the state enacted legislation for control of the water, which made it possible to halt wasteful practices. As a result, the basin has a secure water supply for years.

RECHARGING WELLS

"The best example of recharging wells in a dangerously over-developed area is furnished by Long Island. Back in 1933, concentrated pumping in Brooklyn and neighboring Queens County had lowered the water table below sea level and salt water from Long Island Sound began to contaminate some of the wells in a 40-mile-square area. Here, again, special legislation was needed. The state passed a law requiring that water used for cooling, when drawn from wells with a capacity of more than 100,000 gallons daily, must be returned to the ground through recharge wells.

"More than 60 million gallons of water a day were thus returned to the reservoir in the Brooklyn-Queens area in 1944. Enforcement of this conversion policy has given the area an assured future supply.

"Remedial measures of this sort are important and effective. But, says the Geological Survey, the really vital thing is to determine the facts about underground water conditions before plants and processes dependent upon them are established.

"It all comes down to this: If we regard water for what it is, our most precious mineral resource, we won't run out of water. But underground supplies must be intelligently managed to avert serious consequences.

The Newark Merchants of the girls' softball Hayward Area Recreational League dropped their second game of the season to the league-leading Hayward Office Machine nine by a score of 14-7 at Bret Harte School in Hayward last Monday night.

The Merchants, with a record of five wins in seven starts, held their own against the Machinists until the third inning, when the Hayward team scored enough runs to put the game on ice.

The second place Merchants, coached by Kay Cole of Newark, will meet Cherryland at 7 o'clock Monday evening at Bret Harte school.

1. Even before you call, you can start getting the most for your money. It's a good idea to make a list of the things you want to talk about. A few handy notes can help make sure you won't think of something you really wanted to say—after you hang up. Experienced long distance users keep paper and pencil at the telephone and make notes while they're talking, too.

2. When you place your call, you can save time all around if you give the information to your long distance operator this way: First, the name of town you're calling . . . then, the number if you know it, or the address. (Good idea to keep a list of the out-of-town numbers you call most frequently.) Next, if it's a person call, give the name of the one you want to talk with. The operator will then ask your name and number.

3. When you complete your call, be sure to hang up promptly—and properly. If you remember to use these pointers every time you call long distance, you'll be certain of getting the most from your call for the least money.

With really efficient use of the telephone, you can pack as many words into a three-minute conversation as you can in a letter—and you'll get an answer to your questions right away.

Your telephone is one of today's biggest bargains.

4. Wise use of the telephone—either local or long distance—helps you get the greatest value from it. And service is constantly growing more valuable. A local call is still just a few pennies. And you can make a daytime station call from coast to coast for only $2.50, plus tax.
